Wisconsin Faith Voices for Justice is delighted to introduce our new Director of Development, Bill Mojica. Bill comes to us with over 20 years of development experience fundraising, primarily for health care and educational organizations. Bill is excited to engage with our faith communities to advance our justice agenda. As Director of Development, Bill will lead all aspects of our fundraising, from foundation grants to major donor cultivation to donor management at all levels of giving.

WFVJ Executive Director Rabbi Bonnie Margulis said, “The first time I met Bill, I was impressed with his energy, his passion for his work, and his deep commitment to helping us to grow and have the financial stability we need to realize our mission of social and economic justice and interfaith community building. I am looking forward to working with him.”
